Press release on the occasion to commemorate the 'International Day against Drug abuse and Illicit Trafficking'

Theme: "Health for Justice. Justice for Health"

On Tuesday, June 26, 2019, Uganda will join the rest of the world to commemorate the International day against drug abuse and illicit trafficking. This year's theme "Health for Justice. Justice for Health" emphasizes the integrated nature of the rights- and health-based approaches.

Psychoactive drugs are chemical substances that affect the functioning of the central nervous system, altering perception, mood or consciousness. Common examples of such drugs that are commonly used in Uganda include; marijuana, khat, petroleum products, heroin, cocaine, prescription drugs among others. Alcohol is the commonest drug used and its negative impact is experienced across the globe.

Alcohol: A dangerous psychoactive substance

According to World Health Organisation (WHO), harmful use of alcohol is responsible for 3.3 million deaths i.e. 5.9% of all deaths every year. The latest Global Alcohol Status Report of the World Health Organization (WHO) shows that countries in Africa are now bearing the heaviest burden of alcohol-related disease and injury – even though other continents are still consuming more alcohol in total.

Alcohol use problems in Uganda

WHO highlights Uganda as a country with hazardous drinking patterns due to high prevalence of alcohol consumption and heavy episodic and underage drinking. Uganda's alcohol per capita consumption of 9.8 liters, is among the highest in Africa (Africa's average is 6 litres). Most of the alcohol produced/ consumed is illicit. In 2011, a worldwide survey of socio-economic consequences of alcohol consumption reported Uganda as the country with the highest rate of alcohol-related negative consequences among listed drinkers. Alcohol is documented to destroy families and communities; burden productivity and keep children and youth from living up to their fullest potential which ultimately slow the socio-economic development of the country.

As emphasised by this years' theme, failure to substantially reduce alcohol use and related harms threatens progress not only in health, but in social justice, economic productivity and in sustainable development. Without urgent action, the alcohol burden is only going to rise and the death toll shall never stagnate.

Key achievement in the fight against alcohol harm in Uganda

UAPA is an umbrella organization for individuals, organizations and communities (without commercial interests) advocating for reduction of alcohol harm through effective regulation in Uganda. For the last 10 years UAPA has worked with various stake holders (most closely with Ministry of Health, Makerere University School of Public Health and UAPA members) to support alcohol regulation that has contributed to some important steps in controlling alcohol harm.

- Packaging and selling of sachet alcohol is banned.
- The National Alcohol Policy is awaiting cabinet approval and
- A draft National Alcohol Bill is in ready for input of different stakeholders.
- Various communities (local councils especially in Northern Uganda) have come up with alcohol bylaws/ordinances and related control measures

It is expected that the above steps will ultimately reduce the burden of alcohol related death, disease and disability in Uganda.

Recommendations

UAPA further calls on the government to move with speed to enforce the Policy and Legislative regulations for the cut back on alcohol and protection of alcohol abstainers. Local leaders without bylaws should emulate others that have alcohol ordinances in order to control alcohol harm among their populations. As it appears that sachet alcohol is still being sold in some parts of the country, there should be more involvement of the private sector to strengthen the monitoring and implementation and ensure that the public is sufficiently involved and empowered to implement this directive. Finally, UAPA urges our population to unite against alcohol harm.

Cabinet approves National Alcohol Control Policy

NewVision September 24th, 2019

Cabinet has approved the National Alcohol Control Policy that is aimed at, among others, raising community awareness about the magnitude and determinants of the health, social and economic problems associated with harmful use of alcohol.

Mr Ssubi Kiwanuka, the public affairs officer at Uganda Media Centre, told journalists on Tuesday, September 24, 2019, that the policy carries other objectives such as enhancing capacity and increasing technical support for prevention of harmful use of alcohol and management of associated alcohol disorders.

The policy also demonstrates the government's commitment to address the alcohol-related harm using effective evidence-based intervention.

The government also intends to strengthen regulation on production, packaging, distribution, marketing, sale and consumption of all alcohol beverages.

In 2017, Parliament revived a private member's Bill that seeks to regulate the alcohol industry. The Alcoholic Drinks Control Bill, 2016, is a brainchild of Betty Nambooze, the Mukono Municipality Member of Parliament.

The current Liquor Act, Cap. 93 Section 19 places a restriction upon the license not to allow persons under the apparent age of 18 to be in a bar or licensed premises during the period of sale and consumption of alcohol

UAPA delights in the government's decision to ban sachet alcohol which has been a longstanding major concern for UAPA and the country at large. To recognize efforts of civil society in this struggle, UAPA was elected to represent the civil society on the multi sectoral committee for monitoring the enforcement of the ban which was launched by Minister of trade Industry and Co-operatives on 10th September 2019. Some of the benefits of this ban was the sealing of all industrial production plants for sachet alcohol by Ministry of Trade Industries and cooperatives. There are also various reports where sachet alcohol has been impounded and destroyed. For instance, in on October 3rd UNBS, URA and Uganda Police seized 400 liters valued at 7.4 million shillings in Kampala. On October 10th, URA impounded 10 cartoons (2,640MLs) of illegal alcohol at Katuna boarder on its way to Kenya. Other efforts were reported at local levels where leaders jointly worked to stop the sale of sachet alcohol in their places.

NEWVISION 30th September 2019

1.0 BACKGROUND INFORMATION

Evidence available indicates that Uganda is one of the top African Countries with a high consumption rate of alcohol. Currently, Alcohol consumption in Uganda level is 9.8 litres per capita and it is higher (14.4 litres) among men than women (5.2 litres). In addition, there is high prevalence of heavy episodic drinking, underage drinking and consumption of illicit or informal alcohol.

Excessive consumption and abuse of alcohol has detrimental effects on humans. The effects include as mental and behavioral disorders, liver and cardiovascular diseases, and injuries, violence, public endangerment and death.

To address the above problem and protect the under age and youth from devastating effects of alcohol abuse; increase labour productivity; minimize injuries and traffic accidents; Government through Cabinet in 2017 under Cabinet Minute 128 (CT 2017) took a decision to ban the packaging of alcoholic drinks in small pocket size sachets.

Pader

Leaders of Pader district launched a ban on alcohol made from molasses. This came after four people lost their lives after taking Alcohol the previous week. We really need to count the economic, social and physical loses due to Alcohol. In this we ought to do a lot more as a platform to address it. Much as there is unemployment, sober people can think more creatively to lessen the burden of poverty on families due to Alcohol.

Alcohol production still a lucrative business in Northern Uganda, hence an urgent need for provision of alternative sources of income and advocacy for pro Alcohol control by-Laws in the region.

Civil society under their umbrella organization Uganda Alcohol Policy Alliance (UAPA) have commended government for enforcing the ban on Alcohol sachets in the market. This will reduce the rate at which children were accessing this product and reduce consumption by the youth.

134 were registered in 2019 alone – the highest number of beneficiaries registered in one year. To extend treatment to low income populations, HaB pioneered a free treatment camp which attracted 53 beneficiaries with various physical, emotional, behavioural and psychiatric illnesses. On the research and information dissemination front, we shared our findings in local and international conferences and managed yet another peer reviewed publication this time on ‘Predictors of recovery’ which was published by the Journal of Alcoholism Treatment Quarterly. Finally we are glad to have pioneered a package to care for the children of our clients and now ready to share this good practice with other service providers.

The primary mission of Hope and Beyond (HaB) is provision of high quality, holistic and evidence based addiction recovery services so as to restore hope to those who are discouraged by challenges relating to use of alcohol and other drugs. Since formation in 2012, HaB has established herself as a pioneer organisation to combine treatment and research for alcohol use disorders in Uganda. Youth Sensitization Outreach

On 3rd December 2019 at Mpewo Valley, Kanyanya, Nnina Olugero Foundation and her partners organised a dancing competition to reach out to the youth who are involved in music, dance and drama to educate them on the peer influence, dangers of abusing drugs, alcohol, early unprotected sex and how to prevent them and their effects.

Kanyanya is a peril urban suburb of Kampala with a number of unemployed youth who use leisure activities such as sports, drama, dancing and music as a source of income, which can't sustain them for a living.

These youth are influenced by peers to start abusing drugs, alcohol and sex which increases their risk to mental damage, STDs, unwanted pregnancies and crime. Uganda Alcohol Policy Alliance (UAPA) was represented by Margret who educated the youth on peer influence, dangers of abusing drugs, alcohol and how to prevent them and their effects. Uganda Police was represented by Afande Fatumah who educated the youth on how to avoid crimes and the different types of offenses. The 3 winning teams were rewarded with Bluetooth speakers to aid them in proper training to boost their talents. This activity proved to be effective because it mobilised more youths in the community especially school dropouts therefore we need to have such competitions to attract more youth mostly in slums.
